flexible, versatile city planner tool, which would also be able to satisfy the needs of the city planner and the business person. In the first version it was created to fill a need for a rapid planning tool that could be used for site selection, zoning, right of ways, and urban design. As such, it could also satisfy the city planner's need for an all in one solution. In the following years, the software evolved, improving the tools and the program's capabilities. Today, the program is more flexible than it has ever been, and is still evolving to add more tools and functions to improve the program. The current version of VIETMAP includes spatial analysis, GIS data management, GIS planning, and more.
